Death of Father Galligan

Thomas Galligan, better known as "Father Galligan," or "Uncle Tommy," died at his home in Paw Paw on Saturday last, at midnight, after an illness of five weeks, at the ripe old age of seventy-eight years. For two weeks the friends had been hourly expecting his death, and it was with a feeling of thankfulness that they saw the breath quietly cease, and leave the worn out body to rest in the sweet sleep of death. Father Galligan was born in the state of

New York, Dec. 29th, 1809, and was married in the same state in 1832. There, too, he was converted and united with the Free Baptist church. He came to Michigan in 1845, first settling in Kalamazoo county. In 1853 he moved to Van Buren county and settled in the neighborhood four miles west of Paw Paw, where two of his sons now reside. In 1875, he buried the wife of his youth with whom he had lived forty-three years. Eight children had been born to them, four of whom are still living. In Dec., 1880, I Country of Van Buren—as.

In the matter of the estate of Burton L., Maggie, there was no cozier, happy home in Paw Paw than theirs. The door was always open to his friends, and he had hosts of them among both old and young, who will miss the happy face and hearty welcome that always greeted them. The prayer room was the place he loved the best, and his seat was seldom vacant and his earnest testimonies and joyful responses will not soon be forgotten. As long as he had strength to talk, he gave assurance of the same happy faith and when, a day or two before he died, some one asked him how he was, he answered, "Most home, bless God." With tender, loving reverence, his sons and daughter have ministered to him, some of them being constantly with him, and they will not forget his faith nor the force of the same happy faith and when, a far of the there was no cozier, happy home in Paw Paw last in the Free Baptist church, of which he was an honored, faithful member.
